Winter/Spring 2020 Catalog of Classes and Workshops
In 1960, actress Joanne Woodward received one of the first stars on the Hollywood Walk of Fame; artists Jean-Michel Basquiat was born and Edward Hopper painted “Second Story Sunlight.” Closer to home, Davis Arts Center was founded. In 2020, we are celebrating our 60th birthday!

This milestone birthday has us reflecting on our past 60 years and looking forward to the next 60 years. We look back with so much gratitude to those who founded Davis Arts Center, who have sustained us and contributed to our rich history: board members, executive directors, staff, instructors, artists, donors, participants, students and community.

We’ve reflected on how our community and Davis Arts Center have grown together over the past six decades. In 1960, it was clear that the residents of Davis yearned for a home to teach, discuss and display art. When Davis Arts Center was founded, we were the only art institution in town! On campus, the UC Davis Art Department had only been established 2 years earlier, in 1958. The population of Davis was under 10,000 and the University had fewer than 3,000 students. Our first “headquarters” was located at 234 J Street, the current location of the J Street Co-op. During these first decades downtown, we offered art classes and had exhibits at the J Street location and in storefront studios on both L Street and G Street.

By the mid-1980s, when it was clear that we had outgrown our locations, the Board of Directors and Capital Campaign Committee undertook a fundraising campaign to build our current building. Our new home was now a 10,000 square-foot building, designed to showcase, teach and present the arts at the corner of F Street and Covell Boulevard. Upon the opening of our new location in 1987, our location seemed far north of the center of Davis, considering the Covell overpass had just been completed. Throughout the years, our building has seen hundreds of thousands of people walk through its doors and now no longer feels far from the center of the community.

In researching our rich history, I have enjoyed hearing about Peggy Epstein, artist and longtime supporter, sketching from a downtown parking lot, and listening to Marion Hamilton, Jackie Stevens and Erie Vitiello each recall their experiences serving as Executive Director. Throughout the year we will be sharing some memories and more!

It is exciting to live in a vibrant community with arts organizations that sustain our creativity. Since 1960 and thanks to you, we are honored to be one of the longest serving nonprofits providing art experiences to Davis and the surrounding community.

With sincere appreciation,

Stacie

Three language options: American Sign Language, French, Spanish!
Give your child the gift of a second language from an early age! Late Fees
Davis Arts Center fees are due in full at the time of registration. Students may not participate unless all fees have been paid. A $5 administration fee will be charged for each class registration received more than 7 days after the first day of the class.

We will make every effort to contact registered students in a timely manner if cancellation occurs. If a class is cancelled by Davis Arts Center registrants will receive a full refund.

Wait Lists
Once an instructor’s maximum enrollment is reached, names will be placed on a wait list and students will be notified if an opening occurs. Contact the Davis Arts Center office to be added to a wait list.

Refund Policy
All refunds due to student withdrawal are subject to a $5.00 administration fee. Please be certain that you are able to attend before registering for a class. Registrations are considered final 14 business days before the first class, and no refunds will be given after this time. Davis Arts Center does not pro-rate fees. Exceptions to this policy may be granted only in cases of documented family or medical emergency (see front office staff).
